

Ethical considerations

ELTA Journal reviewing process follows the guidelines of the double peer review and neither the reviewer nor the submission authors are informed of the other.

ELTA Journal reviewers have been recruited according to their field of academic specialization, academic credibility, their degree level (Ph.D.) and /or the track record of their engagement in the ELT or other educational fields.

ELTA Journal reviewers in the current issue have been:

- Agnieszka Uberman, Ph.D., Associate Professor, Institute of English Studies, University of Rzeszów, Poland
- Ana Sentov, Ph.D., Faculty of Law and Business Studies Dr Lazar Vrkatić, Union University Belgrade, Serbia
- Biljana Čubrović, Ph.D., associate professor, Faculty of Philology, University of Belgrade, Serbia
- Jelena Grubor Hinic, Ph.D., State University of Novi Pazar, Department of Philology, Serbia
- Maja Ćuk, Ph.D., Assistant Professor, Faculty for Foreign Languages, Alfa BK University, Serbia
- Tatjana Glušac, Ph.D., Assistant Professor, Faculty of Law and Business Studies Dr Lazar Vrkatić, Union University Belgrade; Serbia
- Tijana Parezanović, Ph.D., Assistant Professor, Faculty for Foreign Languages, Alfa BK University, Serbia
- Vladimir Široki, MA., Freelance consultant in the English Language & Literature, Novi Sad, Serbia
- Andrej Bjelaković, Ph.D. candidate, Teaching Assistant, Faculty of Philology, University of Belgrade, Serbia

- Brooke Ricker, Ph.D. candidate, Pennsylvania State University, USA
- Richard Madsen, Ph.D. candidate, Department of English Business Communication, School of Culture and Global Studies, Aalborg University, Denmark
- Olja Milošević, Ph.D., International School of Belgrade, Serbia